UN ACTION URGED

Mr. K Warns
Russia Will Aid China

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia's Premier Khrushchev has declared that Russia would regard an attack on Communist China as an attack on the Soviet Union and that the question of Formosa should be considered by the United Nations.

Moscow Radio said Krushchev Sunday handed the United States charge d'affaires in Moscow a message to this effect for delivery to President Eisenhower.

Krushchev's message said: "A stable peace is unthinkable in the Far East until the American navy is withdrawn from the Taiwan (Formosa) Straits and until American soldiers are withdrawn from the Chinese island of Taiwan." The Soviet premier said the big powers should be prohibited from "rushing fleets and air forces from one end of the world to another for purposes of blackmail and intimidation."

The Moscow radio summary of the note quoted Krushchev as describing U.S. actions in the Far East as "an open provocation."

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — Chinese Communist party chairman Mao Tse-Tung said today he approved talks with the United States and was hopeful they would bring "some results."

But, even as he spoke in Peiping, the war in the Formosa Strait flared into its worst violence to date with Communist big guns pouring a record artillery barrage against the Quemoy islands and Red and Nationalist Chinese warplanes tangling in the biggest aerial battle of the "little war."

Mao made his statement in a speech before a meeting of the Communist Supreme State Conference in the Red capital, thus endorsing the proposal made Saturday before the same group by Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai in pushing for a negotiated settlement of the Formosa crisis.

'Some Results if Both Sincere'

A Communist New China news agency broadcast of Mao's statement today quoted him as saying:

"The talks might lead to some results provided that both sides had the sincere desire to settle the question (presumably of Formosa). People all over the world are now watching the coming talks between the representatives of the two countries."

Mao coupled his endorsement of the talks renewal with another dose of familiar Communist line propaganda against "U.S. imperialism."

There were these other developments:

Communist guns on the mainland poured an all-time high of 53,314 shells against the six islands of the Quemoy group. Nationalist guns fired back.

A nationalist communiqué said the furious shelling lasted for nine hours killing and wounding 91 persons and destroying a loaded Nationalist ammunition ship beached on Big Quemoy. The vessel, an LSM (landing ship, medium) had been convoyed to the island under protection of the U.S. Seventh Fleet.

7 Red Jets Claimed Shot Down

Another Nationalist communiqué reported that Nationalist planes shot down seven Soviet-built MIG-17 jets and damaged two others in a fierce eight-minute aerial battle near the Red-held China mainland.

There were reports the nationalists may bomb the China mainland in retaliation for renewal of the shelling. The United States was believed to be attempting to restrain the Nationalists from this action.

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, vice chief of staff of the U.S. Air Force ended two days of high-level conferences in Taipei with a dinner meeting with president Chiang Kai-Shek. The Formosa crisis was believed a main point of their discussion.

In Washington, U.S. officials were reported cautiously hopeful of Mao's statement. But they said that no slackening of alertness by U.S. or Nationalist forces in the area is yet justified, especially in view of the split may be but "there are two distinct factions."

Fisher said the first tangible evidence of the cleavage came Sunday when Peter Elasoff, who headed the recent Freedoms delegation visited the U.S. office at Crescent Valley. Elasoff is said to have told police that John Lebaffoff, a deposed Freedomite leader, had been visiting Sons of Freedom families and attempting to discourage them from returning to Russia.

Having finished, she left the stage, dressed and proceeded to launch into another harangue before an RCMP car, this time in English.

At a meeting in Krestova Sunday night, Freedoms secretary Bill Mojelesky told 500 people of the visit to Ottawa, his meeting with Russian Embassy officials and of talks with B.C. Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

He read a copy of a self-prepared telegram sent earlier to Moscow in preparation for a mass exodus planned by Freedoms leaders.

At one point a nude woman stood up and urged the meeting not to listen to Mojelesky, whom she termed an imposter. Her statement brought an uproar in agreement and in disagreement.

DAWSON CREEK (CP) — One-quarter of the roof fell in and all the rooms were heavily damaged in the $40,000 Hyland Motel in southeast Dawson Creek Sunday night. Cause of the fire in the one-storey structure was not determined.

NEW VIEW OF NEW YORK

This interesting view of New York was taken from the roof of a mid-town hotel Sunday. In the background can be seen the Chrysler Building. Oh yes.

The girl in the picture is Mary Ann Mobley, the new Miss America from Brandon, Miss. (AP Wirephoto.)

FORTUNE AWAITS MISSISSIPPI MISS

Halter Suit Halts Show
As Miss America Crowned

ATLANTIC CITY (UPI) — A brown-eyed Mississippi choir singer, who was named Miss America Saturday night, set out today to collect the fortune that goes with the title.

Mary Ann Mobley, 21, Brandon, Miss., college senior, told a press conference: "I used to be the biggest tomboy you've ever seen. I had long pigtails and I wore braces on my teeth for four years. I was 16 when I had my first date."

Miss Mobley, who wants to sing and dance on Broadway, won the coveted title over 52 contestants. She weighs 114 pounds and measures 34½-22-35.

She won a crown, a sceptre, a blue velvet throne, a red ermine-trimmed robe, a total of $10,000 in scholarships, $15,000 in clothes, furs, an auto and a television set, and the opportunity to earn a small fortune during her year-long reign.

Runner-up was Miss Iowa, Joanne Lucille MacDonald, 20, of Ames, who won a $3,000 scholarship.

In the talent contest Mary Ann performed the closest thing to a striptease ever seen at the beauty pageant.

She appeared in a white ball gown and sang part of the operatic aria, "One Fine Day," from Madame Butterfly. Then, suddenly, she stopped singing, whipped off the tulle ball gown skirt and launched into a red hot rendition of "there's gonna be some changes made."

For this part of her act, she was dressed in a Kelly green satin skirt, slit up the front, and the top of what had appeared to be a ball gown.

But that wasn't all. After singing, she flung off her green skirt and went into a dance routine in a white halter suit.

That brought the house down.

As Mojelesky read, the woman, naked, emerged from the sidelines and mounted the outdoor stage. Speaking in Russian, she launched a vehement scolding of Mojelesky and his associates. Other Freedoms told reporters she was telling the leaders "We do not want to go to Russia," and that she wished to sue Mojelesky.

Fisher said the first tangible evidence of the cleavage came Sunday when Peter Elasoff, who headed the recent Freedoms delegation visited the U.S. office at Crescent Valley. Elasoff is said to have told police that John Lebaffoff, a deposed Freedomite leader, had been visiting Sons of Freedom families and attempting to discourage them from returning to Russia.

TWO KILLED
AS CAR HITS
CNR TRAIN

KAMLOOPS (UPI) — A 38-year-old British Columbia mother and her 18-year-old son were killed five miles North of Kamloops this morning in a car-train collision.

Mrs. Lillian Samanich and her son, Laurence, died when the car in which they were riding slammed into a CNR train at a level-crossing at Halston.

The victims resided at Brocklehurst. They are survived by Joseph Samanich, husband and father.

The accident occurred at 8:10 a.m. The engineer of the train has told RCMP that he thought the oncoming car was going to stop when it reached the crossing.

BOOM MAN

The passenger was William Bloom, 41, of Nanaimo, a boom man believed employed by Olson Bros. Logging Ltd., at Toba Inlet.

Two friends discovered the tragedy during a fishing trip when they spotted the tail of Mr. Bloom's plane sticking out of the water.

They were Henry Rosenfield, Vancouver, and Ben Weinborn, North Vancouver.

Ex-Duncan Logger
Killed as Plane
Plunges Into Sea

Two men were killed on the weekend in a light float plane that crashed in Desolation Sound, 20 miles east of Campbell River.

Bodies of the pilot and passenger were recovered inside the aircraft.

Pilot was Tom Garner, 50, former Duncan logging operator, sportsman and partner in a Duncan building supply firm.

He retired to Vancouver about five years ago, and since that time has operated the Chilkoot Lake Lodge and worked as a big-game guide.

Two friends discovered the tragedy during a fishing trip when they spotted the tail of Mr. Garner's plane sticking out of the water.

They were Henry Rosenfield, Vancouver, and Ben Weinborn, North Vancouver.

The pilot and his friends left Deep Cove Friday on a fishing trip to Toba Inlet. Deep Cove is 10 miles east of Vancouver. The friends said Saturday morning Mr. Garner offered to fly a logger to another camp at Desolation Sound and return with him that night.

It is believed the plane crashed Sunday morning, but there were no witnesses.

When the plane was sighted, word was sent to the Olson logging camp. Andrew Olson, owner, secured empty barrels to the plane to keep it afloat while it was being towed to the beach at Redondo Island. It was finally beached at 7:45 p.m. Sunday.

An inquest will be conducted by P. E. Lewis, acting coroner.

KIDNAPPED
MURDERED

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Star says it has learned from a highly reliable source that a gunman being held at Fort Collins, Colo., has admitted killing a Kansas girl he had kidnapped.

The newspaper says the source reported the gunman being questioned was taking officers to the area where the girl had been shot.

The girl, Marjorie Schneider, 18, Wakeeney, Kan., was kidnapped near Fort Collins Sunday.

W. Indies Leader Charges Police Made Him Shut Up

LONDON (Reuters) — A West Indian political leader charged angrily that a London policeman stopped him from talking to a fellow West Indian on a street corner today.

"It is a damned outrage," added Chief Minister Norman Manley of Jamaica, who flew here to look into the current wave of violence between whites and Negro immigrants, many of them West Indians.

A later report indicated that the policeman had not been aware of Manley's identity. Scotland Yard said policemen in the race-troubled area visited by Manley had been instructed to "move on" any groups congregating in the street.

ON STREET CORNER

Manley, touring the troubled Paddington area, told reporters: "I was walking down the street with four Negroes when I paused at the corner to take the name and address of one of them. The man was making a complaint."

Manley said the "policeman came along and said 'You cannot hold a public meeting in the street; get on and don't loiter.'"

Manley complained "nobody said anything" to the 30 or 40 whites gathered in the area and added:

"This would not happen in my country. I would not tolerate it for five minutes; it is a damned outrage."

Sunday Manley said some of the incidents of Britain's current race riots would shame even a southern state in the United States.

"I don't believe the British people can tolerate this violence," he said.

He told 1,000 colored persons at a mass meeting in a London hall: "Do not fail to exercise every single right you possess."

The crowd, which cheered wildly after Manley's speech, booted when Laborite George Roberts tried to explain why he had urged restriction on immigration.

Jenkins' room contained four bunks, but only his own and Cooke's were occupied.

Police said Mantha was a former naval seaman who was discharged in 1956. Jenkins joined the service in June of that year.

Funeral arrangements will be made by the navy and Sands Funeral Home. The body will be shipped to New Brunswick.

SLOAN PROBE ADJOURNED

VANCOUVER — The Sloan royal commission inquiry into tree farm licences has been adjourned until mid-October. Counsel will then present arguments to Commissioner Gordon Sloan.

Still to be decided is whether or deputy forests minister C. D. Orchard will give evidence as requested Friday by lumberman and former MLA Gordon Gibson.

Plumbers Vote To Accept 26-Cent Boost

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — Members of Plumbers' Union Local 170, locked out since April 30, voted Sunday to accept a 26-cent pay increase. The ballot was 464 for and 297 against.

Current basic wage is $2.70 an hour and the increase would be to $2.90, plus a 6-cent fringe benefit.

If the Master Plumbers' Association accepts the terms suggested by mediator Carl Goldenberg — at their meeting today, full-scale work will resume Tuesday on Lower Mainland projects worth $52,000,000, which have been tied up for 19 weeks.

CHARGE IN CAR DEATHS

LADNER — Kai Svendsen, 23, of Vancouver, was charged with two counts of criminal negligence here Sunday following a two-car crash near here Saturday which killed a young mother and her baby. Dead are Mrs. Grace Atsma, 22, of South Westminster, and her seven-year-old daughter, Brenda.

SECOND VOTE ON GAS

PRINCE GEORGE — Ratepayers will vote for the second time, September 18, on whether they want the city to leave the local natural gas distribution system, it was announced Saturday.

A similar referendum was passed by voters in July but it did not receive a necessary 60 per cent majority.

RUSS BUILDING TOP A-PLANT

GENEVA (Reuters) — Russia is building the biggest atomic power station in the world, a Russian scientist announced at the "atoms for peace" conference today.

V. S. Emelyanov, head of the Soviet delegation, said it would produce 600,000 kilowatts of power. He did not say where it was being built.

The new Russian station would use water-cooled reactors with graphite moderators and be fuelled by natural uranium.

FROM NEW POST IN EUROPE

Campbell Coming for Parley

Former B.C. deputy minister of education, Dr. H. L. Campbell, will return here on leave from a new post in Europe to welcome delegates to the 35th Canadian Education Association convention in Victoria next week.

Dr. Campbell, who is president of the association, left here this summer on retirement from the provincial government to become director of education for overseas schools for children of personnel serving in the armed forces.

Attending the convention, which begins Monday and continues all week, will be about 500 senior educationists from all parts of Canada. Deputy ministers of 10 provinces and ministers from most provincial departments are expected.

Also attending will be officials of education boards, colleges, schools, teacher and school board associations.

Need for educational research in new fields, a review of science and mathematics curricula, new trends in school building and a study of teacher qualification will be discussed.

Main speakers will include

'More Realistic' Pay Asked For Civil Servants by VLC

Victoria Labor Council today sent Premier Bennett a letter asking him to do something about giving civil servants more pay.

Signed by council secretary A. W. Toone, the letter urges the government to "include an appropriate sum of money in the 1959 budget to bring government employees' pay up to a more realistic level."

The letter notes: "It is obvious government pay levels are much below the general prevailing rates and that an upward revision is due."

It also asks the government to "make a policy statement" on the issue.

The letter follows a complaint by a Government Employees' Association delegate, aired at the council's meeting Sept. 3.

Also at issue is the question of bargaining rights for the association.

Copy of the letter was sent to the B.C. Federation of Labor.

Battle Against Recession Top Commons Issue

Effect of Government Action Will Be Seen in a Few Months

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The first session of Canada's 24th Parliament, dominated by Progressive Conservatives after a smashing electoral victory March 31, grappled mainly with an economic recession.

It may take a few months more before it can be determined whether the government's measures to give the economy a shot in the arm have been successful.

The anti-recession steps, many of them taken early in the session that started May 12, included $350,000,000 of federal funds for housing loans, more unemployment benefits, record peacetime government spending and deficit budgetary financing of $648,000,000.

The government said these moves were designed to pour purchasing power into the hands of consumers.

Finance Minister Fleming's budget June 17 contained small tax cuts here and there, totaling $26,000,000 in a full year.

Pearson, Pickersgill

Commons Opposition Leader Pearson and former immigration minister J. W. Pickersgill carried most of the burden of criticizing government legislation and policies, especially in the late stages of the session.

Mr. Pearson, a foreign affairs expert, displayed an unexpected grasp of domestic issues and was an active questioner during the often-tedious job of detailed examination of legislation.

The strong man in parliamentary debates for the government was Mr. Diefenbaker. Several times he entered debates when it appeared one of his ministers was being roughed up by the opposition.

National Hospital Insurance Starts

Final action on the bill, likely to be contentious, was postponed until the next session, expected to convene in January.

Parliament saw many famous visitors during the session, including four who addressed the assembled Senate and Commons: Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain, President Eisenhower of the United States, President Heuse of West Germany and Prime Minister Nkrumah of Ghana.

Federal-provincial relations remained pretty much in the background, except for legislation authorizing the federal government to start sharing July 1 the cost of a national hospital insurance plan.

The four western provinces and Newfoundland put their plans in operation on that date. Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are due to come in Jan. 1.

It was a busy session for committees. Ten sets of departmental estimates were studied by committees, thus speeding up the work of the House when they came up for approval there.

The committee that received most of the attention and headlines—mainly as a result of some stormy sittings—was the public accounts committee. It conducted an inquiry into the cost of the government printing bureau in neighboring Hull, Que. — $16,000,000, compared with a $6,000,000 estimate when construction started 10 years ago under the former Liberal administration.

Foreign trade cropped up in many debates. The Liberals attacked what they called a "protectionist" tariff policy in Mr. Fleming's budget, a charge the minister repeatedly denied.

A small boost in the duty on British wool cloth imports drew the opposition's fire, mainly on the ground it would not materially help the Canadian industry and was ill-timed, coming just before the Commonwealth trade and economic conference in Montreal.

$700 MILLION DEFICIT SEEN IN NEW FORECAST

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Fleming has revised sharply upwards his estimate of the government's 1958-59 budgetary deficit, saying it will be about $700,000,000.

His original estimate, when he delivered his budget speech June 17, was $648,000,000—a record peacetime figure.

Reasons are a further decrease in taxation amounting to $2,000,000, involving exemptions from the sales tax on fuel oil when used in logging, mining and lumbering, and further supplementary spending estimates of $58,621,000, including $40,000,000 for Prairie grain growers.

Session Closes As Thunder Rolls

OTTAWA (CP) — Deepening government concern over the Formosan crisis and a pledge to help create more jobs in Canada highlighted the throne speech closing the first session of the 24th Parliament.

The end to a hard-working sometimes acrimonious 93-day summer sitting came at 8:50 p.m. (5:50 PDT) Saturday amid one of the heaviest thunderstorms the Ottawa Valley has ever seen.

And while parliamentarians emptied desks and looked to holidays and home, the cabinet still maintained a heavy pace, meeting all day Sunday as Prime Minister Diefenbaker made ready for a trip to his home at Prince Albert, Sask.

He plans to leave in a few days.

More optimistic was the home situation, said the throne speech read by Mr. Justice Robert Taschereau of the Supreme Court of Canada in the red-carpeted Senate Chamber. He represented Governor-General Massey who was at Quebec City.

While the administration found things improving at home, the opposition did not.

CCF House leader Hazen Argue said the government's dollar-an-acre payment to prairie grain farmers is not enough. It would outrage growers just as pensioners were outraged by the $6-a-month pension boost granted by the former Liberal administration last year.

One of the major pieces of legislation provided for establishment of new board, separate from the CBC, to regulate broadcasting. The new Board of Broadcast Governors will have three full-time and 12 part-time members. The CBC itself will continue to operate a national broadcasting system, but has lost its regulatory powers over private stations.

The new estates tax act will replace the Succession Duties Act. Apart from providing higher basic exemptions, the new act's main principle is that it taxes estates, instead of individual bequests as now.

EX-VICTORIAN LIVES TO TELL STORY

4 Safe as Jets Collide

FO R. J. "Dick" Pomeroy, 21, former Victoria College student, was one of four reserve airmen involved in a mid-air crash over Howe Sound Saturday between two T-33 jet trainers, and is alive to tell about it today.

He and FO Allan C. Eriksen, also 21, rode their damaged T-33 jet trainer back to base.

FO Pomeroy, who left here two years ago to live in Vancouver, is a "week-end" pilot studying engineering at the University of British Columbia. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Pomeroy.

BAILED OUT

FO David Luther Kandal, 29, and FO Ken A. Johnson, 23, the other jet, were forced to bail out following the crash.

They came down in the water. The seafarer Freeland picked them up and an RCAF Canoe brought them back to Vancouver. They suffered only bruises.

The Senate worked through its regular 90-minute luncheon break and finished work at 6:27 p.m., after approving Senate-passed amendments in the new Broadcasting Act. One of the amendments specified that the CBC president and vice-president shall hold office during good behavior and not—as the government first specified—at the cabinet's discretion.

The end to a hard-working sometimes acrimonious 93-day summer sitting came at 8:50 p.m. (5:50 PDT) Saturday amid one of the heaviest thunderstorms the Ottawa Valley has ever seen.

And while parliamentarians emptied desks and looked to holidays and home, the cabinet still maintained a heavy pace, meeting all day Sunday as Prime Minister Diefenbaker made ready for a trip to his home at Prince Albert, Sask.

He plans to leave in a few days.

More optimistic was the home situation, said the throne speech read by Mr. Justice Robert Taschereau of the Supreme Court of Canada in the red-carpeted Senate Chamber. They sang "Alouette" and Mr. Pearson crossed the floor to give Mr. Fleming some thoughtful reading—a booklet outlining Liberal party policies.

While the administration found things improving at home, the opposition did not.

CCF House leader Hazen Argue said the government's dollar-an-acre payment to prairie grain farmers is not enough. It would outrage growers just as pensioners were outraged by the $6-a-month pension boost granted by the former Liberal administration last year.

One of the major pieces of legislation provided for establishment of new board, separate from the CBC, to regulate broadcasting. The new Board of Broadcast Governors will have three full-time and 12 part-time members. The CBC itself will continue to operate a national broadcasting system, but has lost its regulatory powers over private stations.

The new estates tax act will replace the Succession Duties Act. Apart from providing higher basic exemptions, the new act's main principle is that it taxes estates, instead of individual bequests as now.

A Tentative Beginning

THE BILL OF RIGHTS PRESENTED to Parliament last week by Prime Minister Diefenbaker has two serious flaws. The sentiments expressed in the measure are laudable enough—the right of the individual to freedom of assembly, of speech, of religion and so on. But they do not meet the requirements of Canada for two salient reasons.

In the first place, the legislation was introduced as a statute; instead of an amendment to the B.N.A. Act, the Canadian constitution. To this extent it is not properly a bill of rights as recognized in other countries.

As a constitutional amendment it would be more binding on future Parliaments, for although such an amendment could be altered or invalidated by act of Parliament just as a federal statute may be, it would be more firmly embedded in our law and provide a more permanent guarantee of the liberties it specified.

The second weakness of the present legislation lies in the guarantees it provides. Without exception they are confined to federal matters—a field in which they are least required, for it has been the provinces which from time to time have more clearly infringed the rights of individuals.

Easily remembered is the attempt of the Alberta Legislature to impose restrictions on the press. Quebec province has on several occasions restricted freedom of assembly, of speech and of worship—legislation on which the Supreme Court has yet to pronounce a definitive judgment. The notorious padlock law, the restrictions on Jehovah's Witnesses,

Easing the University Overload

THE OTHER DAY DR. JOHN Cecil Masterman, Oxford vice-chancellor, gave to a special University of Toronto convocation his views on the increasing wave of young people now seeking university training.

He was speaking in generalities. His remarks could not, however, have applied more closely to the Victoria scene had he studied the question of degree-granting status for Victoria College.

Dr. Masterman referred to the "almost terrifying increase in the number of university students." They posed an obvious problem for the educator at the university level.

The tremendous volume of new students required accommodation, but where possible, he felt that universities should "opt for the creation of new universities rather than enlarge existing facilities."

The distinguished Briton pointed to one danger of the vastly expanded university. It might, he said, "tend to become a factory for the manufacture of graduates." Education thus becomes no longer a ladder to be climbed but an escalator on which the student stands, and on which he is conveyed from one stage to another without individual effort or initiative."

The point underscores the case for Victoria College. The day may be closer than many think when University of British Columbia degrees

Colombo's Dividend

CANADIANS WHO SOMETIMES wonder whether their expenditures on such foreign aid programs as the Colombo Plan really do any practical good should read the report of the Ford automobile industry for the first half of this year.

Says Ford: "The adverse effect of lower volume on Canadian operating income was more than offset by the increased volume of the overseas subsidiary companies as a result of their expanded volume of sales."

Ford sold less cars to Canadians but it sold more to the people of such countries as India and Malaya. These people want cars, literally millions of them, and are now able to buy not many, to be sure, but enough to keep the Ford factories of Canada busy even during a period of slackness in the domestic market.

Though they move slowly, the Commonwealth's Colombo Plan and the parallel foreign aid of the United States are beginning to make a fractional difference in the life of Asia.

Moon Struck

THE CLAIM OF A UNITED States Congressman that his country is now prepared to use the moon as a reflecting disc for observation of all parts of the earth's surface has received no official confirmation.

The idea, however, seems well within the possibilities of modern science. It is well known that radio waves have been bounced against

The Electronic World

WHILE so many well-meaning persons have been worrying about preserving the human race and trying to ensure that no nuclear cataclysm will destroy it, a few other imaginative folk have been dreaming up a substitute for mankind if the worst comes to the worst. That remark, of course, brings up visions of a movie-maker's laboratory for the mad scientist, with cadavers lying around waiting for the Professor to add the magic elixir. Well, the new idea is much better than that. The really up-to-the-minute scientists are using screwdrivers, pliers and spanners instead of scalpels and forceps. Their boy is tin, not secondhand flesh, but by all accounts he's going to be a jump or two ahead of the zombie. For one thing he'll be able to think.

It's been coming on gradually, of course. The electronic computers at first could only add and subtract and multiply. Later on, with improvements, they were speeded up and they enlarged their capacity.

Maturing Minds

Soon they had attachments to make them remember figures for future use. The robots took up chess, under expert guidance, and developed to the point where they were practically unbeatable. The best you could get against them was a draw.

Meanwhile the mathematical computations were getting more and more complicated. It was a poor electronic computer that couldn't do thirty men's annual work within six minutes. They were booked up months in advance for jobs requested by astronomers, physicists, defence industries and such.

I doubt if anybody ever turned one loose on a housewife's grocery bill or her husband's income tax, but there is no evidence that a healthy robot could not handle even that.

Steady progress has been made. And the other day Washington announced that a really super-duper robot is on the drawing boards and should be born in about a year.

'Therefore I Am'

This new creation will be able to walk, talk, write and see. It will also be conscious of its existence, the scientists say, and able to reproduce itself.

Already the experts have a device that can learn. The U.S. weather bureau has a two-million-dollar computer that learned right from left after fifty tries. That's something a lot of army recruits couldn't equal.

In other words, the machine will grow "wiser" as it gains experience. This will make it exactly like a

As Our Readers See It

Why All the Smoke?

Would you kindly enlighten me as to why our CP ferry ships belch oily smoke both while tied up to dock and in transit (or underway)?

Is it necessary? For example, look at our naval craft, with double the horsepower. Not a trace of the oily stuff. Look at some of our large visiting freighters, with much more power, with little trace of smoke. Finally, refer to your publication issue when the strike was ended and our first ferry proceeded outward bound from our harbor. The photograph was captioned "That she blows" and to my mind it should have read "That she belches."

Is it because the company is using the very cheapest of oil fuel, or is it because they have firemen who do not know how to handle an oil burner, and care less.

Soak the Smoker

In Bruce Hutchison's article, "Back to the Slime" (Times Sept. 2) he proves to his own satisfaction that careless smokers are descended (he probably means ascended) from pollwogs in a stagnant pool, and that they are hurrying back to their original slimy environment.

Anthropologically, biologically and historically, Mr. Hutchison may be correct. But the weakness of his article is that he suggests no cure for the habits of these careless smokers. Surely he knows that if something is not soon done to stop these arsonists both we and our property will soon all be burnt up.

The forestry department of this province tells us that six out of every eight fires started in our forests have been started by "careless smokers." That of course means that millions—if not billions—of dollars' worth of the finest of the people's timber has been destroyed by "careless smokers."

It also means that of all the money spent in fighting the bush fires this year more than three million dollars will be passed along to the taxpayers to pay for something that never should have been lost. Is it quite fair that non-smokers should be asked to help foot such a bill? But this is the least of the loss. Our wildlife destroyed and human life taken can never be equated to monetary values.

The report of the fire insurance underwriters says that 46 per cent of the claims they have to pay are due to careless smokers. This might not be so bad if the smokers burnt up their own property, but the non-smoker sees no good reason why his insurance rates should be almost twice as high to protect him from being burnt up by the smokers.

Could you, Mr. Editor, run a questionnaire seeking public opinion on this burning question? Some one might yet suggest some method by which we might be spared from destruction and death by these vandals.

I, myself, have a suggestion, but I fear careless smokers might object on the grounds that we would be taking away their long-held liberty to burn us up. However, what I propose is that we license every smoker the way we do auto drivers, making the fee ample to cover the cost of law enforcement, graduating it according to the necessity of the case. Some may feel that we could not enforce such a law, but I think that would be a reflection on the integrity of the smoker who is usually an honest man.

I doubt if such a law would be more difficult to enforce than laws against use of drugs, liquor or traffic regulations. Surely the careless smoker is more of a menace than the careless driver! I suggest that the prosecutions be about the same as those imposed for other similar crimes, e.g., suspending of licence, a fine large enough to pay for what the smoker had burned up, and where human life has been lost through the carelessness of a smoker, the offender would be tried for manslaughter. We do this with motorists, why exempt arsonists?

"ALARMED."

Educate the Unions

Major questions of the most far-reaching economic consequences cannot be intelligently disposed of by untrained rank-and-file workers.

I'm not disparaging the rank-and-file union member in this connection. I happen to be one myself. I am merely stating that many of the issues at stake in modern industrial disputes are exceedingly complicated, domestically and internationally speaking, for the ordinary layman. To logically follow them through would take some study in the economics of international trade, particularly in an area like B.C. where so much depends on its exporting capabilities.

The problem, therefore, boils down to one of education. Schools in labor relations should, in my view, be set up in the province by the B.C. government for educating union personnel. The cost in the long run would be infinitesimal in comparison to the loss of markets and the havoc created by senseless strikes.

Strictly speaking, labor education is a C.I.C.C. responsibility. But our top $20,000-a-year brass in Ottawa are too tied up in politics to have any time for educating anybody.

Playing With Fire

From The Times (London)

Children and the unborn may be particularly sensitive.

The committee confesses its own limitations in weighing the matter. Even a slow rise in what it calls "environmental radioactivity," whether from weapons tests or any other sources, might cause appreciable damage to large numbers in the world before it could be identified as due to irradiation.

Man, in fact, goes on playing with fire of an unknown force. The committee itself could not express views on national or international policies, but it does permit itself to say, with the utmost restraint, that all steps designed to minimize irradiation of human populations "will act to the benefit of human health."

And, among the steps, it specifies the stoppage of contamination by explosions of nuclear weapons, besides the avoidance of unnecessary exposure from medical, industrial, and other peaceful processes.

Amid it all a comforting ray of light comes a little fitfully from the East-West conference of atomic experts which met in Geneva during July on the possibility of detecting violations if an agreement to suspend nuclear tests were reached. The experts have agreed on several ways of detection.

If the experts can agree on detecting evasions the political decisions can be taken on firmer ground.

The Game at Quemoy

THE offshore islands around Quemoy are, it would seem, pieces in an elaborate game which is being played for high political stakes. There is no reason to think that the bombardment of Quemoy is part of a plan to invade and conquer Formosa.

But there is good reason to think that the Red Chinese are striking in order to injure the prestige of Chiang Kai-shek, who has commanded a majority of the troops in the off-shore islands, and at the same time to cause the United States to lose Lippmann face before the people of Asia. The timing of the Red Chinese action is, it seems to me, significant.

The action is nicely calculated to come to a climax just about when the regular session of the General Assembly meets this month in New York.

This plus the fact that there appears to be no military build-up on the Chinese mainland for any large action, indicates that the Red Chinese, with Soviet blessing, are engaged in a political manoeuvre. If this manoeuvre succeeded entirely, it could unseat Chiang, it could oust the United States from Formosa, and it could bring Red China into the UN.

Entangling Alliance

What Chiang wants now and always, is to entangle the United States in a full scale war with Red China. We have become involved in a truly entangling alliance, which is now being exploited against us.

The American people should note this fact, that when there was trouble in the Middle East, we turned to the United Nations to find the way out. But in the Chinese trouble, Mr. Dulles cannot turn to the United Nations. Indeed, he must avoid the United Nations. For in our Chinese policy, we stand very much alone.

Not only do we stand alone. In the game now being played, we have lost the initiative to Peiping. For Mao is free to go after the off-shore islands in nibbles rather than in bites, doing just enough to make it embarrassing for the President not to defend the islands, doing not enough to justify an intervention which might mean war.

Is Manchester Wet?

LONDON—Having passed Lord's cricket ground and seen the intriguing spectacle of cricketers practicing in overcoats this summer, I was interested to read a pronouncement by one Terrence Usher, who has a most unenviable job. He is information officer for Manchester and as such must boost the place.

His screed was, in the main, a defense of that much-maligned thing—Manchester's weather. And the reason he rushed into print on its behalf is that people lucky enough not to live in Manchester have been getting a lot of fun out of the news that a woman whose husband's work forces him to live there went to court and tried to get a divorce on the grounds of the city's appalling weather.

Publicist Usher says that it's a "hoary old legend" about Manchester's rain. Manchester is, in fact, in the drier half of a list of British cities.

In the northern suburbs, where the cotton manufacturing is, the annual rainfall is 45 inches. But in the southern suburb, the residential district, the rainfall is only 25 inches. That's what Mr. Usher says.

Presumably halfway between the northern and the southern suburbs, i.e., in the middle of town, things must average themselves out and the rainfall must be 35 inches a year.

YOUR HEALTH

London, which, as far as I know, doesn't split its rainfall up into postal districts, has a blanket rainfall over all the city of about 25 inches.

This, compared to many a place I've lived, isn't particularly high. It just seems like a lot of rain because, instead of downpours and then good weather as in many high rainfall areas, especially in the tropics, London spreads its rainfall pretty evenly through the year, so that there seems to be a bit of it around all the time.

Manchester, whether one is in the north, south or middle of town, this appears to be even more so. A statistic Mr. Usher doesn't quote is that rain hasn't allowed any England-Australia cricket match played there to be brought to a conclusion since 1908—a vintage year for Mancunians.

But he does quote this statistic: More aircraft are diverted from London to Manchester airport because of fog than are diverted from Manchester to London. Also, in February of this year Manchester had more sunshine than London. From January to May, 1957, Manchester also topped London in sunshine.

As if that wasn't convincing enough proof that Manchester's rain is a hoary legend, Mr. Usher concludes by saying that in this atomic age it is worth remembering that Lord Rutherford first split the atom there and ZETA was developed in Manchester. Nothing to do with the weather, of course, but a publicist must get his plugs in where the chance offers.

As I said a while ago, whenever I read the weird sexual explanations some psychiatrists give for thumb-sucking I get annoyed partly because I see no reason for dragging in a complicated theory for a process that is so easily explained by a simple continuation of the child's inborn desire to suck. He perhaps happens to get more than the usual amount of pleasure and contentment that can be obtained from sucking. Perhaps he is like the chain-smoker or the constant chewer of gum or tobacco who gets great comfort from having something always in his mouth.

One reason why I am sure the psychiatrist's explanation is needless and is poppycock is because I have watched animals sucking at something not a teat. I have seen monkeys in a zoo sucking the end of their tail.

In a recent number of that splendid journal "Natural History," I find a letter from Henry F. Dunbar of Kingston, N.Y., discussing a previous letter on the habit some bears have of sucking a paw. He says he once had a cat that sucked the tip of its tail, and he has seen mature cats sucking perhaps a piece of woolen cloth. Mr. Dunbar has had calves, early weaned, which would suck at the edge of a milk pail or at a projection of wood in their stall; also, he had a cow that, for long, kept up the habit of sucking at her feed pail. Certainly, one can hardly accuse these animals of having all the sexual fears and early psychic traumas that some psychiatrists can think up to explain why some children are thumb-suckers long after their sibs have quit the habit.

Recently, Drs. Alfred S. and Howard S. Traisman, writing in the Journal of Pediatrics, reported having studied 2,650 infants and children, 45.6 per cent of whom were slow to give up thumb-sucking. No sex difference was found, and the amount of breast feeding was not a significant factor. More thumb-suckers were found among the slow feeders. The babies who finished their bottle quickly were not so likely to go on sucking. On the average, thumb-sucking tends to stop at the age of 3.8 years.

Every so often I get a letter from someone who, because of grave financial need, writes asking me where he can sell one of his eyes. I doubt very much whether anyone in his senses would care to buy the eye, if only because of possible legal complications later. The donor might later change his mind and keep suing the person who bought the eye "for having injured him severely" or for having underpaid him or cheated him, or something.

I remember how Alfred Russell Wallace, the great contemporary of Darwin, once answered an advertisement in the paper by a man who offered, as I remember, some £2,000 to anyone who would prove that the world was round and not flat. Wallace, who had once been a surveyor, took the man out onto long inlet of the sea in England and showed him, with the help of a theodolite and two rods, that the surface of the water was curved and not flat.

Instead of being satisfied, and paying over the money, the man promptly sued Wallace for annoying him and "defaming his character." In the next two years the man kept hounding Wallace into the courts and costing him so much money that eventually, to get rid of him, Wallace bought him off with a thousand pounds or so out of his small savings!

An unhappy mother wants to know if she should use up all the family savings and take her child with Hurler's disease to some big clinic for treatment. This is a hereditary disease in which the child usually is of low mentality and has a marked deformity of the head and spine. My advice would be not to go travelling about hunting for someone who "might" work a miraculous cure. I cannot imagine that any form of treatment would do any good. Often, when a child is born markedly defective it is a good idea to put him early in a state institution, if only so that the normal children in the family can grow up without the great handicap of living with a defective; also, to avoid the probability that the mother, by greatly neglecting her husband, will lose his love.

Revival in Herb-Cooking?

Judging by the number of people who are speaking about using perennial herbs in cooking, there must be a revival of interest in the art. Rosemary seems in great favor for adding robust flavor to soups and stews; the aroma is reminiscent of nutmeg freshly ground.

The nice thing about rosemary is that it is the ornamental value of the plant as an evergreen shrub. Long arching sprays reach to four feet and the tiny lavender-colored blossoms in May and June are a bonus.

ROSEMARY

It retains its leaves for part of the winter at least. They are a pale green, therefore a decided contrast to the other perennial herbs. An interesting addition to the collection, but the only use I have seen listed is to "dispel fatigue!" At that, it might be pretty useful around here.

Lavender is the only other herb which retains its foliage during winter, and though it properly belongs in the herb garden no use is actually made of it in cooking.

A dooryard planting of these ornamental herbs would be an attraction to all members of the family. The children could easily be taught to bring in the right sprig for mother to put into the meal's main dish, and father would appreciate the spicy fragrance in passing, even though not aware what contributed the delicious flavor in the food.

LIONS TAMED AGAIN

James' Loss Severe Blow

By The Canadian Press

Saturday night was a blue one for Winnipeg Blue Bombers even though they trounced Saskatchewan Roughriders 27-6 and moved into a first-place tie with Calgary Stampeders in the Western Football Conference.

Bombers lost high-scoring full-back Gerry James when he suffered a cracked leg in the third quarter. Officials said the 23-year-old James, most valuable Canadian in football, had a double fracture just above his left ankle and will not be able to play again this season.

In another game at Vancouver, Edmonton Eskimos walked over British Columbia Lions for a 26-7 victory as 26,653 fans watched Lions take their sixth straight defeat.

The unbeaten Stampeders move to Edmonton tonight to see if they can take over top spot.

A hometown crowd of 18,376 watched James collapse after being tackled by Riders' Jack Hill as he grabbed a short pass. Earlier, James had kicked two converts.

Fullback Charlie Shepard and halves Leo Lewis, Gordie Rowland and Ron Latourelle scored the Winnipeg touchdowns. Shepard also booted a single.

GILCHRIST SCORES

Cookie Gilchrist smashed through at the last minute for Saskatchewan's lone touchdown but Hill missed the convert.

Eskimo coach Sam Lyle watched his squad click as Normie Kwong and Johnny Bright led a 428-yard ground attack and Canadian quarterback Don Getty made five of six pass attempts good. Star quarter Jackie Parker hit three in 10 in passing.

Half Don Flynn, playing brilliantly, went through for two touchdowns and Parker scored the third. Joe Mohra scored the other Eskimo points with a convert, single and two field goals.

It was Lions who opened scoring with Ed Vereb cracking through at 2:18 of the first quarter for their only touchdown. Ted Hunt kicked the convert.

Dan Edwards, in his first game as Lions coach, watched his team make only 11 first downs to Edmonton's 24.

YANKS TRIUMPH

Cowan Steals Show In Golf Team Event

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A curly-haired Canadian, Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., bumped golf form right into Lake Merced Saturday by becoming a second U.S. champion in as many days. But the United States prevailed in the long run and won the Americas Cup for the fourth straight time with a total of 30 points.

Cowan, who tumbled two-time champion Harvie Ward Friday, staged another superb putting exhibition Sunday to wrap up a decisive 5 and 3 victory over Hillman Robbins, the current U.S. champion.

His fine performance came too late, however. Piling up 5½ points in the morning sixsomes to gain an insurmountable lead, the U.S. team went on to an easy victory with 30 points compared with 17 for Canada and 7 for Mexico.

A FEW SCARES

The cup defenders, who never have been beaten in this three-way international competition, a few scares. Billy Joe Patton did not reach the finish without the U.S. team captain, just squeezed out a pair of victories. Ward, whose play for the two days has been uncertain, survived a shaky back nine to win a pair and Rex Baxter, who made a fine showing in the sixsomes, took a thumping from big Doug Bajus of Vancouver and only tied Mexico's Mauricio Urdaneta.

Charlie Coe, shooting the finest golf the two-day matches have produced, played 14½ over the rugged 6,650-yard Olympic Club lake course two 66.

Hawkins in Front After Third Round

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Power-hitter Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Texas, fired a 10-under-par 62 Sunday and took over the lead in the third round of the $17,000 Utah open golf tournament.

The Texan's 36-hole total is 199.

Dow Finsterwald carded a 67 in the third round of the 72-hole tournament, and Tom Rosburg, who had a third-round 66.

Digger's Hard Luck Break for Fanning

The big winner in the sprint car meet at Western Speedway Saturday night was Del Fanning, but the sympathy of the crowd went out to veteran Digger Caldwell.

Fanning set a new track record of 18.17, won the trophy dash and picked up the marbles in the feature 100-lap B.C. Centennial championship. But most spectators agreed that the latter victory came only as a result of Caldwell's hard luck.

The veteran Caldwell, driving a Ranger roadster that could take over the lead on the first lap.

Fanning took a little longer to come to the fore, as Ray Laing and local driver Bob Simpson engaged him in a running duel that allowed Caldwell to build up a sizeable lead.

But Caldwell, driving with victory seemingly in his pocket, hit an oil-slick on the 40th lap and spun out. Laing then moved into the lead for a few laps, but Fanning took over on the 50th circuit and held the lead for the remainder of the race.

Simpson passed Laing on the 50th lap and went on to third while shunting Laing to third. Ray Pottinger, who had staged a fine duel with Dick Willoughby, captured fourth spot when Willoughby spun out.

Mrs. Todd was runner-up in the championship match-play event.

Results:

Trophy dash—1. Del Fanning; 2. Ray

Laing; 3. Bob Simpson

that extended up to his shoulder. Longden said:

"I don't think this will stop me. I feel pretty good."

Longden, who gave his age as 48, received support from his doctor in his belief that he will return to the races. "You know Johnny," the physician said.

Longden was working an unrued two-year-old colt named Gallant Royal for Alberta Ranches Ltd.

As the colt approached the top of the stretch he swerved into the rail, tearing out three panels of railing as he fell. The thoroughbred's death apparently was due to a heart attack.

Longden's doctor said he'll be out of action at least four months.

"I sensed something was wrong with the colt when he started to waver on me," Longden said. "But it was too late when I realized it and the horse hit the rail."

On Aug. 11 last year, the same leg was broken above the ankle in a race on the same track when a filly, Royal Vaca, reared with Longden at the starting gate.

Longden has won 5,236 races, more than any jockey in modern history. He scored his 4,871 win aboard Arrowgate in the Del Mar Handicap Sept. 3, 1956, breaking the record of England's Sir Gordon Richards.

Gov't Wages Data Called Misleading

B.C. Government Employees' Association secretary Ed O'Connor has accused Premier Bennett of misleading the public on the question of civil servants' pay rates.

The premier recently noted the average civil servants' wage in July was $305 compared with $277 one year ago.

Mr. O'Connor said: "While the figures are correct, they are incomplete and therefore misleading and absolutely misleading."

10% BOOST NEEDED

The premier failed to state that the average wage outside the civil service was $330.50 a month in June and is no doubt higher at this date. This difference of $25 a month is determined by the application of simple averages.

Mr. O'Connor said surveys by the civil service commission and the BCGEA show need for wage boosts averaging 10 per cent.

BCGEA branches throughout B.C. will vote this month on a proposal they are prepared to strike if necessary to obtain an 11 per cent increase.

ANOTHER TV QUIZ SHOW ACCUSED OF 'CHEATING'

NEW YORK (AP) — The spotlight of controversy played Saturday on another television quiz show—"The $64,000 Challenge"—as a former contestant said he was given an answer to a question beforehand.

The Rev. Charles E. Stoney Jackson said in Nashville, Tenn., that he was given the answer by a "Miss Bernstein" in a pre-show briefing.

Shirley Bernstein, associate producer of the program, said she never assisted Jackson. "I've never fed him or anyone else an answer on 'The $64,000 Challenge' or on any other show," she said.

'Tadpoles' Start Swimming Course

The annual eight-lesson swimming and water safety course began for Grade V pupils in Greater Victoria schools today. Youngsters from Cedar Hill and Oaklands elementary schools were first to plunge into the Crystal Garden pool to start off a program that will introduce about 1,900 children to the water before the end of May.

Some 925 pupils will take instruction from Red Cross swimming teachers and school teachers between now and October. The remainder will receive instruction during April and May.

CERTIFICATE

Each pupil will spend five hours and 20 minutes in the pool to complete the course. Success in final tests brings a certificate.

"The children learn everything from bobbing their heads under the water to swimming the length of the pool," said George Grant, supervisor of physical education.

On Saturday afternoon, dog obedience trials were held. Entries, representing some of the best breeds in Canada and the United States, included several dogs from as far south as Mexico.

Mrs. S. V. B. Roberts, Park Drive, Albert Head, with her Welsh Corgi Bhilwara Enchantress, won the best Canadian-bred puppy trophy.

Other winners were: Sporting group, German short hair pointer, Am. and Can. Ch. Buck V. Gardsburg, D. D. Williams; Best in Show, German short hair pointer, Ch. Dainty Dancer of Glenairley, Margaret Robertson; working: great dane, Ch. Ladymeade Montreux, Mr. and Mrs. D.

75% of Firms Violate Laws On Discrimination—Survey

Seventy-five per cent of B.C. firms violate the B.C. Fair Employment Practices Act, a survey conducted jointly by the Vancouver labor committee for human rights and the B.C. Federation of Labor has reported.

The standing committee of human rights of the Canadian Labor Congress, which released the report, said it will be included in the B.C. Federation of Labor's forthcoming brief to the B.C. government on the province's anti-discrimination legislation.

The brief will ask for more effective enforcement of the B.C. Fair Employment Practices Act.

ANOTHER HONOR

has been won by Alice Guiness in the form of the Volpi Cup awarded to the best actor in the British movie "The Horse's Mouth" at the Venice Film Festival Sunday.

The committee asked labor unions throughout the province to forward their employers' application forms.

Returns showed:

Sixty per cent asked the applicant's place of birth;

About five per cent asked questions about the applicant's religion;

Seventy-five per cent asked country of citizenship;

Fifty per cent asked the name of the school or schools where the applicant received his education.

Top-Rate Quality At Colwood Fair

Quality was up to standard at the 13th annual Colwood Country Fair, Saturday, at Colwood Community Hall, but the number of entries in flower, fruit and vegetable classes was slightly down. Mrs. B. W. Parker, secretary, said summer weather had its effect on the entries. "There was not one cabbage in the fair this year," she said. The fair, sponsored by Colwood Women's Institute, was officially opened by Miss L. M. A. Savory, Langford, only surviving charter member of the organization, formed in 1910.

4½-Hr. Fight At Grass, Peat Blaze

Saanich firemen pumped 3,000 gallons of water from their largest tanker on a grass, brush and peat fire at the foot of Darwin Avenue for nearly 4½ hours Sunday.

The one-acre fire was put out after one extra trip was made to refill the department's new 1,500-gallon water tank truck.

Alarm was answered at 1:48 p.m. and the call was the largest of a number of scattered grass and brush fires among eight alarms rung in Sunday.

The calls ranged over the municipality from the Gorge area to Veterans' Hospital.

Five Cars of Blooms At Worthington Rites

Representatives of the many civic boards and community organizations which had benefited from the service of John A. Worthington attended his funeral Saturday.

Friends filled Christ Church Cathedral and sent five cars of flowers.

The pallbearers were Forrest L. Shaw, Frank Hunter, S. H. Okell, R. T. Wallace, G. H. Shaw and Arthur Winters.

Frank Mulliner was present on behalf of Royal Jubilee Board. The mayor and city council was represented by Ald. M. H. Mooney. Edward Williams appeared for B.C. Protestant Orphanage. There also were officials present from Cerebral Palsy Clinic and Greater Victoria Sea Cadets.

Mr. Worthington had been a member, director or supporter

Danger Boat Sunk by Shells

HALIFAX (CP)—A United States Coast Guard cutter shelled and sank a burning Portuguese fishing boat in the Atlantic today after rescuing 40 crew members.

There was no explanation for the fire aboard the boat, but she had developed a leak in her hull.

The Spencer was diverted to the area en route to her weather station from the U.S. Navy base at Argentia, Nfld.

Mr. Pitre was formerly head of Industrial Engineering Ltd., which built the factory and sold out to Outboard Marine Co. two years ago for $4,750,000. Most of the engineering company's employees were shareholders in the firm and made huge capital gains from the sale.

Outboard Marine has moved its operations back to Peterborough, Ont., and Mr. Pitre said he had planned a more active employee participation scheme in his new business.

He said he and some of his employees are opposed to recent certification of the United Steelworkers as bargaining agent for the new company's employees.

Mr. Pitre was formerly head of Sierra Development, which was to manufacture plastic boats, paddle boards, picnic coolers and other products, had been set up so that 40 per cent of net profits would go to workers as a "bonus."

Another 10 per cent would be put into a retirement fund. Each employee would collect his share when he left the company.

Mr. Pitre said he has affidavits from 19 workers stating that they do not wish to be represented by the steelworkers union and that they did not participate in the vote to choose a bargaining agent.

The company now has 26 employees.

The union says it was certified in accordance with all requirements of the law.

The B.C. Labor Relations Board, because of opposition to the certification in the plant, has scheduled an appeal for Sept. 23.

But Mr. Pitre says he will not wait for the appeal as he would not be able to shut down if the union finally won out after he had made commitments to customers. The company has been manufacturing experimental products since it was incorporated in January.

He said he has appealed to B.C. Labor Minister Lyle Wicks without success.

He added: "You can't fight the government when it's acting as a police force for the union. Now I'm through with the contract."

At the time of Inland's financing it was estimated Inland would sell to Cominco about two and one-half million cubic feet per day or one-half of the present amount called for by the contract.

Most of the money is spent by Americans who represent 60 per cent of the tourist traffic. Mr. Lane frankly admits they are the most popular visitors.

From the Capital Region Planning Board of B.C., Mr. Lane has figures to show that in the four months from June to September last year, tourists poured $8.6 millions into Victoria.

The board's study breaks down this expenditure to show $2.2 millions was spent for clothing, $2 million for food, $1.9 million for accommodation, $500,000 for sightseeing, and $1 million miscellaneous.

The clothing total can be detailed to show $1,200,000 was spent on ready-made apparel, $900,000 for linens and woolens, $500,000 for china and crystalware, and $600,000 for sweets, leather goods, totem poles and other souvenirs.

11-Storey Crash —But Nobody Hurt

2,000-Ton Skeleton Building Collapses in Heart of Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Amid a thundering Saturday night storm, the 2,000-ton steel skeleton of an 11-storey building slipped, shuddered and crashed to twisted rubble in the heart of the city.

And not a person was injured.

At 6:20 p.m. 12-year-old Bob Gowe stepped onto his back porch to cover his bicycle against the rain.

He glanced up at the looming frame that was to be the $5,000,000 headquarters building of Union Carbide (Canada) Limited and screamed: "Dad! There's a building falling!"

Within seconds the gaunt structure, growing for two months and which a day earlier had swarmed with up to 100 workmen, was a flattened nest of steel. Residents from homes surrounding the construction site on the south side of Eglington Avenue rushed out to stare at the $600,000 pile of wreckage. They found five cars squashed beneath huge beams.

CAUSE UNKNOWN

One steel beam crashed against the home of plumber W. John Grierson and toppled a maple tree onto the kitchen pantry.

Sunday representatives of the general contractors, Anglin-Norcross (Ontario) Limited; the structural steel contractors, Dominion Bridge Company, Limited, and the architects, Shore & Moffat, of Toronto, went into conference. They could not say what spilt the structure.

HIGH WINDS

They knew there were winds of up to 55 miles an hour during the storm and a great peal of thunder as the building started down—but little more.

Civic Employees Call Strike in Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Civic employees voted Sunday to strike Sept. 15 and tie up garbage collection, roads, water and parks programs if their demands for 6 to 10 cents an hour pay boosts are not met.

CAMERA MAGIC

13 'Ghosts' Appear On Film at Alter

SELDGEY, England (Reuters) — Ghostly figures of 13 people in medieval robes have shown up on a color picture taken of the deserted high altar of Winchester Cathedral, an amateur photographer has claimed.

T. L. Taylor, 42, an electrical engineer, said he has no explanation for the strange, ancient figures that appear to be standing and kneeling before the altar of the 11th-century cathedral.

Color film experts said the picture is not a double exposure. Taylor's 35-millimetre camera is fitted with a device to prevent double exposures.

Taylor's wife, his 16-year-old daughter Valerie and a friend were present when he took two photographs of the altar.

Seven Die as Truck Smashes on Car Roof

RICHMOND, Me. (AP) — Seven persons were killed Saturday night when a car collided with a truck. It was the worst traffic accident in Maine's history. All occupants of the car except a seven-year-old boy were crushed when the empty tanker landed on top of their sedan.

DUNCAN SHOW

Big Wins For City Riders

Jean Dunbar, 1007 Joan Crescent, dominated the annual Cowichan District Riding Club gymkhana and horse show at Duncan on the weekend by placing in every event she entered.

Riding her horses Seven-Up and Trader she won four first places, three seconds, two thirds and one fourth.

She won the Mrs. S. A. N. Watney trophy for showing the best horse or pony foaled in the Cowichan district, the Col. Thorne perpetual memorial trophy awarded annually to the champion of the hunter classes at the show, the W. B. Harrison trophy for the most successful horse in the show, and the Cowichan District Riding Club cup for the best light horse in the show, all with Seven-Up.

The rider scored 28 points in the two-day meet, and 34 points were won by the horse. Miss Dunbar won the Doering trophy for being the most successful exhibitor in the show.

Riding Trader, she won small hunter and novice jumping classes.

C. C. Carpenter, 4066 Cedar Hill Road, won the open jumping event at the show; with only four faults marked against them.

THREE-SHOW AWARD

Presentation was made at the Duncan show of the Buckerfield trophy, won by Mr. Carpenter. It is awarded annually to the rider scoring the most points in three Island horse shows—the annual gymkhana held in connection with the Saanichton fair, Cobble Hill fair horse show and the Duncan event.

The Duncan event usually is held as one of the feature attractions of the annual three-day Cowichan Exhibition. This year, with the exhibition cancelled because of a lack of funds for expansion, the horse show was the only major fair event in the district.

The show was held Friday and Saturday under rules of the Canadian Horse Show Association. Officials were Miss Gillian Dunlop, CDRC president, as chairman; Mrs. H. Norcross, entary secretary; Bob Batty, jump scorer; Bob Shanks, Victoria timer; Capt. Douglas Prentice, Victoria, CHSA steward.

Judge was Bernice Ramsay of Vancouver.

Black to Assist New Victoria Parking Tax Plan

City public works committee was informed today that Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black has agreed to submit legislation at the next session which would give Victoria power to raise tax money for off-street parking developments.

The taxes would be levied against nearby businesses on a local improvement basis to pay for the developments.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgeland said an off-street parking plan will be ready by the end of this month or Oct. 15 at the latest.

Committee agreed to arrange at the earliest possible time a meeting of the city engineer, police departments, public works committee and the downtown businessmen's association to study the plan.

Delightful 'n' Different—
This Novel Parody on Life

By PENNY SAVER

Please don't eat the daisies . . . or I should say "Please Don't Eat The Daisies" . . . for it's the title of one of the best selling books this fall! I found it in a local book shop and after scanning the reviews, decided this delightful parody on life by Jean Kerr would be just the answer to September doldrums.

So come with me into the wonderland of books and see who can laugh loudest at "Please Don't Eat The Daisies"! It's priced at $4.25.

Another rib tickling book is "Around the World With Auntie Mame" by Patrick Dennis. Here is a story full of fun and fancy about a woman in her thirties . . . sowing her wild oats!

See Auntie Mame presented at court in London or read about her making a huge "splash" in Venice! You'll chuckle and live every page. A happy book priced at $4.75.

For those who like their reading on the more serious side, there's a new book, "Inside Russia Today" by John Gunther. It's filled with descriptions of Soviet cities, sights, people and institutions. The author conveys Russia's qualities and atmosphere in an easy-to-read way. He has a flare for digging up interesting details about the history, government and social patterns of a country and he certainly hasn't passed up a point in his latest book.

Don't miss owning and reading it at $5.95.

For the children and grown-ups, too, this book shop offers the latest in reading rages . . . "Hamid of Aleppo." It's about the adventures of a rakish hamster. It is going to get out of the priceless scrapes it gets into? Why not find out? Read this book for all ages by Clive King. It's illustrated by Giovannetti and it's priced at $2.

Read for fun, enjoyment and relaxation this fall! If you're itching to know where I shopped for books, then call me right now at 2-3131.

On Etiquette

Does She Expect a Grand Piano, Too?

We bought a new home and moved in recently. We want to give a house-warming, but someone told me that such a party should be given by friends rather than ourselves. Is that true? Would it be all right if the party is given soon, even though we have no furnishings in our living room?

Louise Davis answers:

Something tells me that you hope your friends will furnish your living room. I hope you won't be so foolish and ill-mannered to consider such a thing. It doesn't seem possible that anyone would want to give a party in a new home until it is adequately furnished or at least presentable.

To expect friends to donate is shocking. Without your furnishings, you aren't settled, and, if you want to entertain, you should wait until you have them, even if they are skimpy or temporary make-shifts. When the time comes for you to give a party, you should avoid using the term "house-warming," either in conversation or invitations. Such party gatherings in a new house aren't planned as gift hauls but as delightful social affairs so that friends can share in the new joy. If guests happen to come bearing gifts, at least you aren't asking for them or even hinting.

HOME IN SAN FRANCISCO

Mrs. Ronald A. Monk and her seven-week-old daughter, Tracy, with Mr. Monk, are leaving Wednesday to make their home in San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Monk came to Canada from London a year and a half ago, and after spending some time in Toronto and Prince Rupert, have been living in Victoria for the past year.

RETURN FROM EUROPE

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Lincoln and their children, Dorothy and Alfred, pictured aboard the Home Lines' flagship Homeric when they arrived in Montreal, have returned to Victoria today after spending the past two and a half months in Europe. While there they attended the World Fair and visited friends in Belgium, and toured France, Germany, Holland, Luxembourg, England and Scotland.

First United Setting For Hills-Holland Vows

Pink roses, carnations, gladiolus and lily of the valley decorated First United Church for the wedding of Miss June Frances Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Armistead of Port Angeles, and Ernest Edward Hills, son of Mrs. E. Hills of Hautain Street.

Rev. A. I. Higgins conducted the service.

Mrs. J. Ackinlose, soloist, sang "Through the Years," and organist was Mrs. J. Roberto Wood.

For the evening ceremony, the bride wore a continental lace gown in floor length. The fitted bodice featured a scalloped neckline and the waist flared out to a dainty ruffled skirt. Her chapel-length veil was edged with matching lace misting from a tiara of orange blossoms and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of pink and white bridal roses with seed pearls intertwined. She was given an entrance by Rev. Higgins.

Mrs. G. Bridges, Mrs. J. Cahill and Miss Jeanette Wight were attendants. Their gowns were in ice blue, lemon yellow and pale pink, respectively. All had matching picture hats and carried bouquets of carnations, roses and stephanotis. Miss Janet Robbins was flower girl, wearing a floor-length mauve frock. Her crown was in matching shade and she carried a small colonial bouquet.

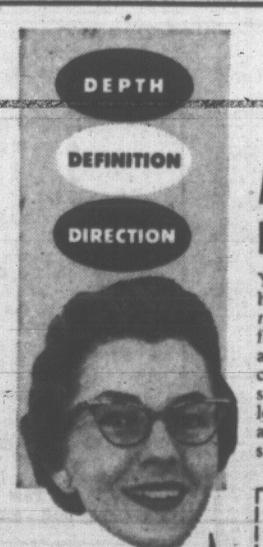

Best man was G. F. Cahill,

Of Personal Interest

At Nuptials

Mr. and Mrs. L. Dallimore, of Manitoba, were among out-of-town guests at the wedding Saturday of Miss June Holland and Mr. Ernest Hills, in First United Church. Also here for the nuptials were Mr. and Mrs. D. Smart, of Oregon; Mrs. D. Smith, of Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. E. Berglund, Mr. and Mrs. G. Morris, of Port Angeles; Mr. J. Henderson, of Alberta, and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Orr, Mr. and Mrs. F. Meeking and Mrs. Holland, of Vancouver.

Bridal Shower

Miss Shelagh Murray-Dixon, who is to be married later this month, was guest of honor at a shower given by Mrs. P. J. Mulcahy and her daughter, Miss Denise Mulcahy. A corsage of red roses was presented to the bride-elect; her grandmother, Mrs. F. W. Warren, received pink carnations, while her mother, Mrs. G. Murray-Dixon, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. W. Guild, received red and white carnations. Gifts were tied to a decorated clothes rack. Guests included Mrs. A. A. Warren, Mrs. F. Kortmeyer, Mrs. O. Hulme, Mrs. R. H. McFadden, Mrs. H. Curtis, Mrs. J. Parker, Mrs. D. Simpson and Misses Margery Ellis, Sally Gardon, Sheila Olson, Betty Cummings and Wendy Norris.

Christening

Bernadette Anne and Beatrice Claire were names bestowed on the infant twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fernand Poulin of Metchosin at a baptism in Lady of the Rosary Church, Langford, recently. Father W. J. O'Brien conducted the service. Godparents for Bernadette are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beaujolin and for Beatrice, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Beaujolin of Saskatchewan.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Dior of Spencer Road, Langford, received the names Clement Paul in a christening service at Our Lady of the Rosary Church. Father W. J. O'Brien officiated. The child's godparents are Mr. and Mrs. Felix Comeau.

Returns Home

Miss Mary O'Brien, sister of Father W. J. O'Brien, rector of Our Lady of Rosary Church, Langford, returned to her home on Prince Edward Island recently. Miss O'Brien has spent the past two years with her brother here.

Visit Edmonton

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Goodwin returned to their Vlev Royal home recently after a trip to Edmonton. They were visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Goodwin.

Guests at Lodge

Mr. and Mrs. G. Hardie and Mr. F. E. Balsom of Victoria have been recent guests at Forbidden Plateau Lodge. Also staying at the lodge have been Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Privett of Sidney.

Miss Tyson Feted

Mrs. P. Dunderdale and Mrs. G. Pollard were co-hostesses at the Vancouver Street home of the latter with a bridal shower arranged for Miss Ruth Tyson. A corsage of white carnations was presented to the honor guest. Her mother, Mrs. H. Tyson, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. J. Riddell, received mauve carnations. Gifts were under a decorated umbrella. Other guests were Mrs. J. Greenwood, Mrs. L. Fernie, Mrs. Kathleen Douglas, Mrs. Davenport, Mrs. Dunderdale, Mrs. Pat Claryards, Mrs. J. Skinner, Misses Olsen, Joan Tyson and Gyla Bowden.

G. Tippett proposed the toast.

A French blue Blin and Blin suit was worn by the bride for her wedding trip to Colorado. She topped the ensemble with a three-quarter length coat, matching shoes, gloves and purse. Her hat was in a crushed strawberry shade and she carried a single rose.

The newlyweds will make their home at 4950 Cordova Bay Road.

$7,000 WIN ON FIRST TRY

NANAIMO (CP)—A 53-year-old Lantzville man learned Saturday he has won nearly $7,000 on the first sweepstakes ticket he ever bought.

Robert Arkell, B.C. Forest Products logger, had just returned to work after nearly three-months layoff when he heard the goods news at the company's Harris Creek camp.

It was an Australian government sweepstakes.

CHASED BY POSSE Man Admits Attacking Young Girl

CHEMAMINUS—A millworker, caught in a hunt in which police and workmen took part, pleaded guilty in police court here Saturday to an indecent attack on a 13-year-old girl. He was remanded by Magistrate W. H. Bryant to September 15 for sentence.

Montague Harry Reynard, 35, married, and an employee at the B.C. Forest Products pulp mill at Crofton, was arrested Friday just 45 minutes after he molested two 13-year-old girls on a path by Chemainus River, close to the Chemainus Highway, at Westholme.

According to police, Reynard had parked his car on the highway and followed the girls. He attacked one, who managed to escape.

The other girl ran to her home and told her mother, who called the RCMP.

The mother also called a passing motorist, who made Reynard's car useless by taking the distributor cap.

Meanwhile, police had arrived from Chemainus and Duncan. They were told that man was seen getting into a car at the Jack Pinson Garage at the Chemainus-Crofton Road intersection, and that he was let out as the car turned into the pulp mill.

As a result, they warned an E & N Railway section gang and longshoremen working nearby.

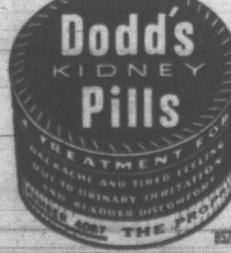

Minutes later he was seen at Crofton running up the hill from Osborn Bay wharf with nine workmen in pursuit, and was arrested without difficulty. "They were pretty close behind, and he was glad to run into us," a policeman said.

Culprits Escape As Struck Plant Damaged by Blast

WINDSOR, N.S. (CP)—An RCMP dog from Truro tried to pick up a trail early today around the scene of an explosion which damaged equipment belonging to the strike-bound nearby Millers Creek Sunday night.

Police would release no details except that there were no injuries in the blast. No estimates of damage were available. The explosion was reported to have been set off in a gypsum quarry.

The plant and quarries have been idle since last October when 400 members of the Nova Scotia Quarryworkers' Union (CLC) struck to back demands for higher wages, shorter hours and other benefits, including union security.

'GO-BETWEEN' FAILS

Cruiser Holed On Ganges Reef

GANGES—A fishing trip came to grief here Saturday night when Roy Schultz of Lake Cowichan rammed his 21-foot outboard cruiser "Rum 'n' Coke" on a reef at the southeast end of Goat Island in Ganges Harbour.

The accident happened at about 10 p.m. when Schultz, accompanied by Harry Halverson, tried to go between the Chain Islands. They planned to stay overnight at their fishing grounds in order to make an early start fishing Sunday morning.

Two large holes were ripped in the bottom of the boat.

A passing fisherman took Halverson to Ganges, where he contacted RCMP Const. Spencer Smith and Const. Robert Dodds, who attended with the police launch and pulled the wrecked craft clear.

It was towed to Ganges by the fisherman, skippered by B. Halnes, and had submerged by the time it reached the government wharf. A towing truck was used to place it aboard its trailer.

The motor was insured, but there was no insurance on the boat. Some articles had been salvaged before the craft was pulled from the reef.

2 DIE IN ISLAND AIR CRASH

UN ACTION URGED

Mr. K Warns Russia Will Aid China

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia's Premier Khrushchev has declared that Russia would regard an attack on Communist China as an attack on the Soviet Union and that the question of Formosa should be considered by the United Nations.

Moscow Radio said Khrushchev Sunday handed the United States charge d'affaires in Moscow a message to this effect for delivery to President Eisenhower.

Khrushchev's message said: "A stable peace is unthinkable in the Far East until the American navy is withdrawn from the Taiwan (Formosa) Straits and until American solders are withdrawn from the Chinese island of Taiwan."

The Soviet premier said the big powers should be prohibited from "rushing fleets and air forces from one end of the world to another for purposes of blackmail and intimidation."

The Moscow radio summary of the note quoted Khrushchev as describing U.S. actions in the Far East as "an open provocation."

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — Chinese Communist party chairman Mao Tse-Tung said today he approved talks with the United States and was hopeful they would bring "some results."

But, even as he spoke in Peiping, the war in the Formosa Strait flared into its worst violence to date with Communist big guns pouring a record artillery barrage against the Quemoy islands and Red and Nationalist Chinese warplanes tangling in the biggest aerial battle of the "little war."

Mao made his statement in a speech before a meeting of the Communist Supreme State Conference in the Red capital, thus endorsing the proposal made Saturday before the same group by Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai in pushing for a negotiated settlement of the Formosa crisis.

'Some Results if Both Sincere'

A Communist New China news agency broadcast of Mao's statement today quoted him as saying:

"The talks might lead to some results provided that both sides had the sincere desire to settle the question (presumably of Formosa). People all over the world are now watching the coming talks between the representatives of the two countries."

Mao coupled his endorsement of the talks renewal with another dose of familiar Communist line propaganda against "U.S. imperialism."

7 Red Jets Claimed Shot Down

Another Nationalist command reported that Nationalist planes shot down seven Soviet-built MIG-17 jets and damaged two others in a fierce eight-minute aerial battle near the Red-held China mainland.

There were reports the nationalists may bomb the China

NEW VIEW OF NEW YORK

This interesting view of New York was taken from the roof of a mid-town hotel Sunday. In the background can be seen the Chrysler Building. Oh yes.

The girl in the picture is Mary Ann Mobley, the new Miss America from Brandon, Miss. — (AP Wirephoto.)

FORTUNE AWAITS MISSISSIPPI MISS

Halter Suit Halts Show As Miss America Crowned

ATLANTIC CITY (UPI) — A brown-eyed Mississippi choir singer, who was named Miss America Saturday night, set out today to collect the fortune that goes with the title.

Mary Ann Mobley, 21, Brandon, Miss., college senior, told a press conference: "I used to be the biggest tomboy you've ever seen. I had long pigtails and I wore braces on my teeth for four years. I was 16 when I had my first date."

Miss Mobley, who wants to sing and dance on Broadway, won the coveted title over 52 contestants. She weighs 114 pounds and measures 34½-22-35. She won a crown, a sceptre, a blue velvet throne, a red ermine-trimmed robe, a total of $10,000 in scholarships, $15,000 in clothes, furs, an auto and a television set, and the opportunity to earn a small fortune during her year-long reign.

Runner-up was Miss Iowa, Joanne Lucille MacDonald, 20, of Ames, who won a $3,000 scholarship.

In the talent contest Mary Ann performed the closest thing to a striptease ever seen at the beauty pageant.

She appeared in a white ball gown and sang part of the operatic aria, "One Fine Day," from Madame Butterfly. Then, suddenly, she stopped singing, whipped off the tulle ball gown skirt and launched into a red hot rendition of "There's Gonna Be Some Changes Made."

For this part of her act, she was dressed in a Kelly green satin skirt, slit up the front, and the top of what had appeared to be a ball gown.

But that wasn't all. After singing, she flung off her green skirt and went into a dance routine in a white halter suit.

That brought the house down.

TRAIL (CP) — Reporter Jack Fisher of radio station CJAT says he has seen indications of a split in the ranks of Sons of Freedom Doukhobors.

Fisher, who attended a meeting of the sect in Krestova Sunday night, said there was as yet no indication how serious the split may be but "there are two distinct factions."

Fisher said the first tangible evidence of the cleavage came Sunday when Peter Elasoff, who headed the recent Freedoms delegation, visited the RCMP office at Crescent Valley. Elasoff is said to have told police that John Lebadoff, a deposed Freedoms leader, had been visiting Sons of Freedom families and attempting to discourage them from returning to Russia.

Having finished, she left the stage, dressed and proceeded to laud into another harangue before an RCMP car, this time in English.

At a meeting in Krestova Sunday night, Freedoms secretary Bill Mojelsky told 500 people of the visit to Ottawa, his meeting with Russian Embassy officials and of talks with B.C. Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

He read a copy of a self-prepared telegram sent earlier to Moscow in preparation for a mass exodus planned by Freedoms leaders.

At one point a nude woman stood up and urged the meeting not to listen to Mojelsky, whom she termed an impostor. Her statement brought an uproar in agreement and in disagreement.

W. Indies Leader Charges Police Made Him Shut Up

LONDON (Reuters)—A West Indian political leader charged today that a London policeman stopped him from talking to a fellow West Indian on a street corner.

"It is a damned outrage," said Chief Minister Norman Manley of Jamaica, who flew here to look into the current wave of violence between whites and Negro immigrants, many of them West Indians.

A later report indicated that the policeman had not been aware of Manley's identity. Scotland Yard said policemen in the race-troubled area visited by Manley had been instructed to "move on" any groups congregating in the street.

"You could no more protect every single serviceman from that sort of thing than you could each civilian," the spokesman said.

There is a break in a fence surrounding the land side of Naden, due to construction of the new technical school off Admirals Road, the RCN said.

PATROLLED A sentry patrols this area, but someone wishing to gain entrance could wait until the sentry's back was turned and "slip in," the statement said.

Otherwise, the fence itself is not impregnable. It has a canted, barbed wire top, which could be climbed with risk of little damage or injury.

Once inside the base, a person could move without difficulty since all ranks may wear "civvies" when ashore, and they return to barracks "at all hours of the night."

The Nelles Block houses 700 men, and sentries on duty on each floor are mainly fire pickets who would have no way of recognizing every man who entered the building, or even of seeing them come in.

A quartermaster stationed at the main entrance could allow a man to slip in, believing him to be a resident, the navy said.

There was "no comment" on whether anyone actually did see an intruder enter or leave the block.

Jenkins' room contained four bunks, but only his own and Cooke's were occupied.

Police said Mantha was a former naval seaman who was discharged in 1956. Jenkins joined the service in June of that year.

Funeral arrangements will be made by the navy and Sands Funeral Home. The body will be shipped to New Brunswick.

SLOAN PROBE ADJOURNED VANCOUVER — The Sloan royal commission inquiry into tree farm licences has been adjourned until mid-October. Counsel will, then present arguments to Commissioner Gordon Sloan.

Still to be decided is whether deputy forests minister C. D. Orchard will give evidence as requested Friday by lumberman and former MLA Gordon Gibson.

Plumbers Vote To Accept 26-Cent Boost

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — Members of Plumbers' Union Local 170, locked out since April 30, voted Sunday to accept a 26-cent pay increase. The ballot was 464 for and 297 against.

Current basic wage is $2.70 an hour and the increase would be to $2.90, plus a 6-cent fringe benefit.

If the Master Plumbers' Association accepts the terms suggested by mediator Carl Goldenberg — at their meeting today, full-scale work will resume Tuesday on Lower Mainland projects worth $52,000,000, which have been tied up for 19 weeks.

CHARGE IN CAR DEATHS

LADNER — Kai Svendsen, 23, of Vancouver, was charged with two counts of criminal negligence here Sunday following a two-car crash near here Saturday which killed a young mother and her baby. Dead are Mrs. Grace Atsma, 22, of South Westminster, and her seven-year-old daughter, Brenda.

Manley said the "policeman came along and said 'You cannot hold a public meeting in the street; get on and don't loiter.'

Manley complained "nobody said anything" to the 30 or 40 whites gathered in the area and added:

"This would not happen in my country. I would not tolerate it for five minutes, it is a damned outrage."

Sunday Manley said some of the incidents of Britain's current race riots would shame even a southern state in the United States.

"I don't believe the British people can tolerate this violence," he said.

He told 1,000 colored persons at a mass meeting in a London hall: "Do not fail to exercise every single right you possess."

The crowd, which cheered wildly after Manley's speech, booted when Laborite George Roberts tried to explain why he had urged restriction on immigration.

False Teeth Need A Special Cleanser

Don't Brush Your Plates Soak Them in Polident As Dentists Suggest

Polident is the recommended way to clean dentures, banish Denture Breath. Just follow these easy rules.

1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges they get loose.

2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath".

3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only... Polident! Polident is recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates. Polident gets where a brush can't reach.

Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter.

RUSS BUILDING TOP A-PLANT

GENEVA (Reuters) — Russia is building the biggest atomic power station in the world, a Russian scientist announced at the "atoms for peace" conference today.

V. S. Emelyanov, head of the Soviet delegation, said it would produce 600,000 kilowatts of power. He did not say where it was being built.

The new Russian station would use water-cooled reactors with graphite moderators and be fuelled by natural uranium.

... to greet educators

FROM NEW POST IN EUROPE

Campbell Coming for Parley

Former B.C. deputy minister which begins Monday and continues all week, will be about 500 senior educationists from all parts of Canada. Deputy ministers of 10 provinces and ministers from most provincial departments are expected.

Also attending will be officials of education boards, colleges, schools, teacher and school board associations.

Need for educational research in new fields, a review of science and mathematics curricula, new trends in school building and a study of teacher qualification will be discussed.

Attending the convention,

Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Dr. Norman MacKenzie, University of B.C. president.

The organization, financed largely by provincial education departments, provides a liaison among the provinces, and is a forum for exchange of problems and discussion by both lay and professional personnel.

'More Realistic' Pay Asked For Civil Servants by VLC

Victoria Labor Council today much below the general prevailing rates and that an upward revision is due.

It also asks the government to "make a policy statement" on the issue.

The letter follows a complaint by a Government Employees' Association delegate, aired at the council's meeting Sept. 3.

At that time the delegate deplored the government's action and accused it of "not making a sincere effort to settle this question."

Also at issue is the question of bargaining rights for the association.

Copy of the letter was sent to the B.C. Federation of Labor.

11 Storey Crash —But Nobody Hurt

2,000-Ton Skeleton Building Collapses in Heart of Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Amid a thundering Saturday night storm, the 2,000-ton steel skeleton of an 11-storey building slipped, shuddered and crashed to twisted rubble in the heart of the city.

And not a person was injured.

At 6:20 p.m. 12-year-old Bob Gove stepped onto his back porch to cover his bicycle against the rain.

He glanced up at the looming frame that was to be the $5,000,000 headquarters building of Union Carbide (Canada) Limited and screamed: "Dad! There's a building falling."

Within seconds the gaunt structure, growing for two months and which a day earlier had swarmed with up to 100 workmen, was a flattened nest of steel. Residents from homes surrounding the construction site on the south side of Eglington Avenue rushed out to stare at the $600,000 pile of wreckage. They found five cars squashed beneath huge beams.

CAUSE UNKNOWN

One steel beam crashed against the home of plumber W. John Grierson and toppled a maple tree onto the kitchen pantry.

Sunday representatives of the general contractors, Anglin-Norcross (Ontario) Limited; the structural steel contractors, Dominion Bridge Company, Limited, and the architects, Shore & Moffat, of Toronto, went into conference. They could not say what spilled the structure.

HIGH WINDS

They knew there were winds of up to 55 miles an hour during the storm and a great peal of thunder as the building started down—but little more.

Civic Employees Call Strike in Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Civic employees voted Sunday to strike Sept. 15 and tie up garbage collection, roads, water and parks programs if their demands for 6 to 10 cents an hour pay boosts are not met.

CAMERA MAGIC

13 'Ghosts' Appear On Film at Alter

SELDGEY, England (Reuters) — Ghostly figures of 13 people in medieval robes have shown up on a color picture taken of the deserted high altar of Winchester Cathedral, an amateur photographer has claimed.

T. L. Taylor, 42, an electrical engineer, said he has no explanation for the strange, ancient figures that appear to be standing and kneeling before the altar of the 11th century cathedral.

Color film experts said the picture is not a double exposure. Taylor's 35-millimetre camera is fitted with a device to prevent double exposures.

Taylor's wife, his 16-year-old daughter Valerie and a friend were present when he took two photographs of the altar.

Seven Die as Truck Smashes on Car Roof

RICHMOND, Me. (AP) — Seven persons were killed Saturday night when a car collided with a truck. It was the worst traffic accident in Maine's history. All occupants of the car except a seven-year-old boy were crushed when the empty tanker landed on top of their sedan.

DUNCAN SHOW

Big Wins For City Riders

Jean Dunbar, 1007, Joan Crescent, dominated the annual Cowichan District Riding Club gymkhana, and horse show at Duncan on the weekend by placing in every event she entered.

Riding her horses Seven-Up and Trader she won four first places, three seconds, two thirds and one fourth.

She won the Mrs. S. A. N. Watney trophy for showing the best horse or pony foaled in the Cowichan district, the Col. Thorne perpetual memorial trophy awarded annually to the champion of the hunter classes at the show, the W. B. Harrison trophy for the most successful horse in the show, and the Cowichan District Riding Club cup for the best light horse in the show, all with Seven-Up.

The rider scored 28 points in the two-day meet, and 34 points were won by the horse. Miss Dunbar won the Doering trophy for being the most successful exhibitor in the show.

Riding Trader, she won small hunter and novice jumping classes.

C. C. Carpenter, 4060 Cedar Hill Road, won the open jumping event at the show, with only four faults marked against them.

THREE-SHOW AWARD

Presentation was made at the Duncan show of the Buckerfield trophy, won by Mr. Carpenter.

It is awarded annually to the rider scoring the most points in three Island horse shows—the annual gymkhana held in connection with the Saanichton fair, Cobble Hill fair horse show and the Duncan event.

The Duncan event usually is held as one of the feature attractions of the annual three-day Cowichan Exhibition. This year, with the exhibition cancelled because of a lack of funds for expansion, the horse show was the only major fall event in the district.

The show was held Friday and Saturday under rules of the Canadian Horse Show Association. Officials were Miss Gillian Dunlop, CDRC president, as chairman; Mrs. H. Norcross, entire secretary; Bob Batty, jump score; Bob Shanks, Victoria, timer; Capt. Douglas Prentice, Victoria, CHSA steward.

Judge was Bernice Ramsay of Vancouver.

Black to Assist New Victoria Parking Tax Plan

City public works committee was informed today that Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black has agreed to submit legislation at the next session which would give Victoria power to raise tax money for off-street parking developments.

The taxes would be levied against nearby businesses on a local improvement basis to pay for the developments.

Al. Geoffrey Edgeland said an off-street parking plan will be ready by the end of this month or Oct. 15 at the latest.

Committee agreed to arrange "at the earliest possible time" a meeting of the city engineer, police departments, public works committee and the downtown businessmen's association to study the plan.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Oshawa returns 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

Fortune, James Bay, Cowichan, Miramichi return 8 a.m. Sept. 25.

Skeena, Athabaskan, Cayuga left 8:30 a.m. today, return 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

A "Back-to-School Night" will be held by the Quadra School PTA Tuesday, 8 p.m., in the school auditorium, when new officers will be installed and an outline of educational techniques in Cleveland, Ohio, given.

Two women hurt in car crash; driver snoozed

Two women received face cuts when a car driven by Edward A. Dick, of Mairretta, Washington, knocked over three mail boxes and crashed into a power pole on Wilkinson Road at 8:15 a.m. Sunday.

In Saanich police court today Dick pleaded guilty to charges of careless driving and driving without a licence. He was fined $35 and $25 consecutively.

Police said Dick fell asleep as he drove south, allowing his car to get out of control. Damage to the car was estimated at $600, to the pole and mail boxes $100.

Mr. Thelma Dick received a lip cut and knee abrasion and Mrs. Helen Sparvier, 20, of Craigflower Post Office, was sitting with his family at a Sproat Lake beach when he saw an astonishing sight:

A surf-board on which a woman was riding—behind a 25-h.p. outboard boat—suddenly dived for the bottom of the lake.

Mr. Kiwanis: 12:10 p.m., Empress Hotel Ballroom. A mixed program of "Information and organization."

North Kiwanis: 6:15 p.m., Monterey Restaurant. Chamber of Commerce. Tourist Trade group chairman Sam Lane speaks on the work of the chamber.

Surviving are the widow, Claire, at home; two sons, Frank Wallace Earle and Dr. John S. Earle, Victoria, and one sister, Mrs. Elmer Morris, Bloomington, Ont.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. at Hayward's and will be followed by cremation.

Automotive equipment valued at $195 was reported stolen overnight Saturday from Sandy's Auto Wrecking Co. Ltd., 1023 View.

Police were told entry was made by way of a yard gate on View and a door in the building which opens onto the yard.

Four recapped tires, a snow tire, a half-ton truck transmission, a jack and a battery were taken.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Eric W. Larson, 2830 Admirals, $15 for failing to yield the right-of-way to a pedestrian in a crosswalk.

MONTE ROBERTS

DEAR DIARY:

MONDAY

Well, I have neglected you long enough, every man should keep a diary, it is an invaluable source of information as well as good for self-discipline and an orderly mind and all that.

Well, here goes for last Monday, Labor Day, it was a pretty quiet day, diary, being a holiday and all but we got up early because being a holiday and all we didn't have to get up early so we did, isn't that how it always is, diary? And we had breakfast; I had steaks cut from a small coho donated by a fishing friend, my wife didn't have bacon and tomatoes.

Nothing much else happened except Sask. 22, B.C. 14.

TUESDAY

Well, diary, Tuesday was the day after the holiday so naturally we overslept and had no time for breakfast and were late for work isn't that how it always is, diary? So the day started wrong and finished the same way so perhaps we had better not write too much about Tuesday.

WEDNESDAY

Wednesday didn't start out too well, either, diary, but it finished strong. The reason it didn't start out very well, diary, was the first thing I did was get out of bed and I find it makes me unhappy to get out of bed. However, everything worked out all right because the centennial people invited me to a very nice party which I enjoyed very much.

I was going to write down all the nice names of the nice people I met at the nice party, but I don't seem to remember, I told you it was a nice party, didn't I?

THURSDAY

Well, diary, what do you think happened today? I met an admiral, he was a Japanese Admiral, and do you know what I did not do? I did not ask where he was on the morning of Dec. 7, 1941, that's what I did not do.

Outside of that, nothing much happened Thursday.

FRIDAY

Nothing much happened Friday.

SATURDAY

NOTHING happened Saturday.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

John Copinger from Winnipeg will take over as managing secretary of Victoria Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting to be held in the Crystal Ballroom next Monday at noon. Mr. Copinger is expected to arrive in Victoria early Monday morning. He was formerly assistant manager of Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce.

Everybody won at Victoria West Community Centre's centennial fair in Banfield Park Saturday.

About 1,000 persons spent several hours of pleasure playing games set up at the fair, watching the Victoria Girls' Pipe Band performance or going for a launch ride on the Gorge.

And the community centre ended the day with a gain of some $235 in the treasury.

Ladies' auxiliary of Esquimalt Branch No. 172 of the Canadian Legion will meet at 8 p.m. today in the hall at Admirals Road.

Winter meetings of the Victoria Prayer and Healing Study Group commence Wednesday 3 p.m. in Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall.

Retired CNR Official Dies In City at 75

Charles Frederick Earle, 75, for many years district passenger agent for the CNR here, died early today at his home, 1061 Joan Crescent.

Born in Belleville, Ont., he had lived in Victoria for more than 45 years, and was a member of St. Andrew's Lodge No. 49, AF & AM.

Surviving are the widow, Claire, at home; two sons, Frank Wallace Earle and Dr. John S. Earle, Victoria, and one sister, Mrs. Elmer Morris, Bloomington, Ont.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. at Hayward's and will be followed by cremation.

TUESDAY

Well, diary, Tuesday was the day after the holiday so naturally we overslept and had no time for breakfast and were late for work isn't that how it always is, diary? So the day started wrong and finished the same way so perhaps we had better not write too much about Tuesday.

WEDNESDAY

Wednesday didn't start out too well, either, diary, but it finished strong. The reason it didn't start out very well, diary, was the first thing I did was get out of bed and I find it makes me unhappy to get out of bed. However, everything worked out all right because the centennial people invited me to a very nice party which I enjoyed very much.

I was going to write down all the nice names of the nice people I met at the nice party, but I don't seem to remember, I told you it was a nice party, didn't I?

THURSDAY

Well, diary, what do you think happened today? I met an admiral, he was a Japanese Admiral, and do you know what I did not do? I did not ask where he was on the morning of Dec. 7, 1941, that's what I did not do.

Outside of that, nothing much happened Thursday.

FRIDAY

Nothing much happened Friday.

SATURDAY

NOTHING happened Saturday.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

John Copinger from Winnipeg will take over as managing secretary of Victoria Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting to be held in the Crystal Ballroom next Monday at noon. Mr. Copinger is expected to arrive in Victoria early Monday morning. He was formerly assistant manager of Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce.

Everybody won at Victoria West Community Centre's centennial fair in Banfield Park Saturday.

About 1,000 persons spent several hours of pleasure playing games set up at the fair, watching the Victoria Girls' Pipe Band performance or going for a launch ride on the Gorge.

And the community centre ended the day with a gain of some $235 in the treasury.

Ladies' auxiliary of Esquimalt Branch No. 172 of the Canadian Legion will meet at 8 p.m. today in the hall at Admirals Road.

Winter meetings of the Victoria Prayer and Healing Study Group commence Wednesday 3 p.m. in Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall.

Retired CNR Official Dies In City at 75

Charles Frederick Earle, 75, for many years district passenger agent for the CNR here, died early today at his home, 1061 Joan Crescent.

Born in Belleville, Ont., he had lived in Victoria for more than 45 years, and was a member of St. Andrew's Lodge No. 49, AF & AM.

Surviving are the widow, Claire, at home; two sons, Frank Wallace Earle and Dr. John S. Earle, Victoria, and one sister, Mrs. Elmer Morris, Bloomington, Ont.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. at Hayward's and will be followed by cremation.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

DEAR DIARY:

MONDAY

Well, I have neglected you long enough, every man should keep a diary, it is an invaluable source of information as well as good for self-discipline and an orderly mind and all that.

Well, here goes for last Monday, Labor Day, it was a pretty quiet day, diary, being a holiday and all but we got up early because being a holiday and all we didn't have to get up early so we did, isn't that how it always is, diary? And we had breakfast; I had steaks cut from a small coho donated by a fishing friend, my wife didn't have bacon and tomatoes.

Nothing much else happened except Sask. 22, B.C. 14.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Delightful 'n' Different—
This Novel Parody on Life

By PENNY SAVER

Please don't eat the daisies . . . or I should say "Please Don't Eat The Daisies" . . . for it's the title of one of the best selling books this fall! I found it in a local book shop and after scanning the reviews, decided this delightful parody on life by Jean Kerr would be just the answer to September doldrums.

So come with me into the wonderland of books and see who can laugh loudest at "Please Don't Eat The Daisies"! It's priced at $4.25.

Another rib tickling book is "Around the World With Auntie Mame" by Patrick Dennis. Here is a story full of fun and fancy about a woman in her thirties . . . sowing her wild oats!

See Auntie Mame presented at court in London or read about her making a huge "splash" in Venice! You'll chuckle and live every page. A happy book priced at $4.75.

For those who like their reading on the more serious side, there's a new book, "Inside Russia Today," by John Gunther. It's filled with descriptions of Soviet cities, sights, people and institutions. The author conveys Russia's qualities and atmosphere in an easy-to-read way. He has a flare for digging up interesting details about the history, government and social patterns of a country and he certainly hasn't passed up a point in his latest book.

Don't miss owning and reading it at $5.95.

For the children and grown-ups, too, this book shop offers the latest in reading rags . . . "Hamid of Aleppo." It's about the adventures of a rakish hamster. Is it going to get out of the priceless scrapes it gets into? Why not find out? Read this book for all ages by Clive King. It's illustrated by Giovannetti and it's priced at $2.

Read for fun, enjoyment and relaxation this fall! If you're itching to know where I shopped for books, then call me right now at 2-3131.

On Etiquette

Does She Expect a

Grand Piano, Too?

We bought a new home and moved in recently. We want to give a house-warming, but someone told me that such a party should be given by friends rather than ourselves. Is that true? Would it be all right if the party is given soon, even though we have no furnishings in our living room?

Louise Davies answers:

Something tells me that you hope your friends will furnish your living room. I hope you won't be so foolish and ill-mannered to consider such a thing. It doesn't seem possible that anyone would want to give a party in a new home until it is adequately furnished or at least presentable. To expect friends to donate is shocking. Without your furnishings, you aren't settled, and, if you want to entertain, you should wait until you have them, even if they are skimpy or temporary make-shifts. When the time comes for you to give a party, you should avoid using the term "house-warming," either in conversation or invitations. Such party gatherings in a new house aren't planned as gift hauls but as delightful social affairs so that friends can share in the new joy. If guests happen to come bearing gifts, at least you aren't asking for them or even hinting.

School Warns Court Integration 'Chaos'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Little Rock school board today asked the Supreme Court not to order it to resume integration at Central High School now, saying it would result in new "bedlam, turmoil and chaos."

The board said that to deny Little Rock a desegregation hearing spell would discourage any further voluntary compliance with the court's racial integration ruling.

Man Plunges 12 Stories to Death

MONTREAL (CP) — John Posipanka, 56, fell 12 stories to his death today from the Bell Telephone Company toll building under construction on Beaver Hall Hill. Posipanka was loading and unloading construction equipment from a hoist.

$12,000 Grabbed in Montreal Holdup

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Banque Canadienne Nationale, favorite target of Montreal holdup men, had one of its branches robbed again today. Two men forced bank manager Gerald Blais and two employees to the back of the bank at gunpoint while they cleaned out the cash drawers of $12,000.

15-Year-Old Held in $20,000 Thefts

OTTAWA (CP) — Arrest of a small, cat-quick 15-year-old has broken up one of the biggest housebreaking rings in Ottawa district in recent years, police said today. More than 60 charges of breaking and entering have been laid against the juvenile. Value of the loot is estimated at $20,000.

Ex-Policemen Charged in Bank Theft

CALGARY (CP) — Police said today Robert Nicholson, a former policeman, has been arrested at his home in Fort Saskatchewan and charged with the $4,105 robbery of the Royal Bank of Canada at Standard, Alta., in August.

Murder Suspect Remanded Week; Inquest Waived

A murder charge was read in Esquimalt police court this afternoon against 31-year-old tugboatman Leo Anthony Mantha of 451 Superior Street.

He is accused in the knifing of 23-year-old naval seaman Aaron H. Jenkins, of Cods, Queen's County, New Brunswick, about 40 miles north of St. John.

The knifing occurred in an HMCS Naden barracks room early Saturday morning.

Mantha, a bachelor, represented by lawyer Alan Macfarlane, was remanded one week by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Prosecutor was W. R. McIntyre.

Inquest into the death has been waived on instructions of the attorney-general's department, Coroner E. C. Hart said today.

Ex-Duncan Pilot Killed In Crash

Two men were killed on the weekend in a light float plane that crashed in Desolation Sound, 20 miles east of Campbell River.

Dodies of the pilot and passenger were recovered inside the aircraft.

Pilot was Tom Garner, 50, former Duncan logging operator, sportsman and partner in a Duncan building supply firm.

He retired to Vancouver about five years ago, and since that time has operated the Chilko Lake Lodge and worked as a big-game guide.

The passenger was William Bloom, 41, of Nanaimo, a boom man believed employed by Olson Bros. Logging Ltd., at Toba Inlet.

Two friends discovered the tragedy during a fishing trip when they spotted the tail of Mr. Garner's plane sticking out of the water.

They were Henry Rosenfield, Vancouver, and Ben Weinborn, North Vancouver.

The pilot and his friends left Deep Cove Friday on a fishing trip to Toba Inlet. Deep Cove is 10 miles east of Vancouver.

The friends said Saturday morning Mr. Garner offered to

Father Sees Sons Killed By Lightning

BIG BEAR LAKE, Calif. (AP) — Lightning crackled out of a sudden storm, killed two children and injured a third while their father, former all-American football player Bob Reinhard, watched helpless from a skiff on the lake Sunday.

The lightning bolt exploded into a plywood shack on the lake's shore where the three youngsters had ducked out of the downpour.

They were Henry Rosenfield, Vancouver, and Ben Weinborn, North Vancouver.

FORTUNE AWAITS MISSISSIPPI MISS

Halter Suit Halts Show As Miss America Crowned

ATLANTIC CITY (UPI) — A brown-eyed Mississippi choir singer, who was named Miss America Saturday night, set out today to collect the fortune that goes with the title.

During her year-long reign, she flung off her green skirt and went into a dance routine in a white halter suit.

That brought the house down.

Ann performed the closest thing to a striptease ever seen at the beauty pageant.

She appeared in a white ball gown and sang part of the operatic aria, "One Fine Day," from Madame Butterfly. Then, suddenly, she stopped singing, whipped off the tulle ball gown skirt and launched into a red hot rendition of "There's Gonna Be Some Changes Made."

Miss Mobley, who wants to sing and dance on Broadway, won the coveted title over 52 contestants. She weighs 114 pounds and measures 34½-22-35.

She won a crown, a sceptre, a blue velvet throne, a red ermine-trimmed robe, a total of $10,000 in scholarships, $15,000 in clothes, furs, an auto and a television set, and the opportunity to earn a small fortune during her year-long reign.

Runner-up was Miss Iowa, Joanne Lucille MacDonald, 20, of Ames, who won a $3,000 scholarship.

singing, she flung off her green skirt and went into a dance routine in a white halter suit.

That brought the house down.

KHRUSHCHEV

negotiations which had been broken off last December after 2½ years of unsuccessful talks in Geneva. Mao repeated the same theme today.

President Eisenhower said immediately after Chou's announcement that the United States "stands ready" to resume the talks, which now would be held in Warsaw. U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam was reported standing by to hear from Wang Hing-Nan, Red China's ambassador to Poland, about resumption of the talks.

A Communist New China news agency broadcast of Mao's statement today quoted him as saying:

"The talks might lead to some results provided that both sides had the sincere desire to settle the question (presumably of Formosa). People all over the world are now watching the coming talks between the representatives of the two countries."

Mao coupled his endorsement of the talks renewal with another dose of familiar Communist line propaganda against "U.S. imperialism."

There were these other developments:

Communist guns on the mainland poured an all-time high of 53,314 shells against the six islands of the Quemoy group. Nationalist guns fired back.

A nationalist communiqué said the furious shelling lasted for nine hours killing and wounding 91 persons and destroying a loaded Nationalist ammunition ship beached on Big Quemoy. The vessel, an LSM (landing ship, medium) had been convoyed to the island under protection of the U.S. Seventh Fleet.

Another Nationalist communiqué reported that Nationalist planes shot down seven Soviet-built MIG-17 jets and damaged two others in a fierce eight-minute aerial battle near the Red-held China mainland.

There were reports the nationalists may bomb the China mainland in retaliation for renewal of the shelling. The United States was believed to be attempting to restrain the Nationalists from this action.

Gen. Curtis E. Lemay, vice chief of staff of the U.S. Air

Kidnapped Girl Feared Murdered

Merchants today were asked to help the Greater Victoria civic leaders' campaign to banish litter from streets and public areas.

Esquimal Reeve A. C. Wurtele suggested that retail stores, particularly confectionery outlets, "could do a tremendous service" by placing signs in their windows urging customers to use municipal trash bins for their litter.

"I think this would be a great help, particularly in confectionery stores where children buy candy bars and, too often, throw the wrappers on the street as soon as they leave the store without bothering to look for a trash bin," he said.

Meanwhile, Saanich Reeve George Chatterton joined the campaign launched last week which saw Mayor Surrah, Reeve Wurtele and Oak Bay Reeve Fred Norris appeal to residents to avoid littering the streets.

"I think the campaign is a wonderful idea and it has my wholehearted support," Reeve Chatterton said. "It is only public co-operation that can lick the problem."

Reeve Chatterton said he would support any move to place more trash cans in park and beach areas at convenient locations.

"But in the meantime, I appeal to all persons to take their litter home and dispose of it there if they can't find a park trash bin nearby."

These Communist territorial wavers today said "this is obviously the most dangerous act of deliberate provocation" and that the Red Chinese foreign ministry was issuing a second "serious warning."

U.S. Vice-Admiral Wallace M. Beakley says rough seas would prevent a Chinese Communist invasion of Formosa after Sept. 15.

"I would say if we get through Sept. 15 Taiwan (Formosa) is not too threatened," the U.S. 7th Fleet commander said Sunday. "The water gets too rough for invasion in the strait."

fly a logger to another camp at Jervis Inlet and return with him that night.

It is believed the plane crashed Sunday morning, but there were no witnesses.

When the plane was sighted, word was sent to the Olson logging camp. Andrew Olson, owner, secured empty barrels to the plane to keep it afloat while it was towed to the beach at Redondo Island. It was finally "ached" at 7:45 p.m. Sunday.
